

Construction Projects Supervisors, Construction Projects Consultants in Florida

Finally... There is a company out there to watch out for and protect the customer who needs major construction related services. There are simply too many stories of clients not being satisfied with the contractor and even less satisfied with the engineer they have chosen to supervise their contractor. Often times, the client feels as if they were taken for a ride by both, during and after the construction process.

Being licensed by the State of Florida as Unlimited General, Electrical, Air Conditioning, and Roofing Contractors, Florida Construction Project Management's focus is to protect you during the entire construction process. We are independent and have no affiliation with any general contractors, engineers or suppliers. We have one goal: to protect you during the construction project and ensure that when the job is done, you are happy and your expectations were realized and/or exceeded.

To make matters worse, the client is often frustrated by the amount of personal time spent monitoring their construction project because those that were supposed to do it for them, simply failed.

Florida Construction Project Management can help. Let us take control of your project and make sure that your contractors and engineers do their jobs. Let us handle the day to day stress and supervision of your construction site, while keeping you informed every step of the way. Let us help you get the best prices, most qualified personnel, and ensure that the job is performed both timely and in accord with your requirements and satisfaction. Leave the stress and worry to Florida Construction Project Management.

Florida Construction Project Management constantly keeps the entire project under a stringent Control Mechanism.

Our efficiency is assured using an extremely structured approach: always evaluating and assigning roles and responsibilities, updating organizational charts, presenting comprehensive budgets, scheduling milestones and implementing acquisition policies.

Real Estate Development Management

Florida Construction Project Management represents clients active in various phases of real estate: investment, financing, development and operations. Our expertise in real estate development project management extends from new builds to conversions and renovations. Our extensive experience on the real estate market in Hollywood, Florida from real estate development planning to design and construction gave us the opportunity of serving our clients 'needs and to present innovative solutions and opportunities with a transparent approach and always for the best interest of our clients.